The occasion as planned by the committee, will be strictly an informal affair and there is no long program to be carried out. Members of the church, Sunday School, Christian Endeavor Society, other organizations of the church and friends, are invited. The committee desires a good attendance. Refreshments will be served.

The Presbyterian church has been without the services of a pastor since the departure of Rev. C. H. Talbot who has gone to a new field of work in Kentucky. The committee, appointed for the purpose, will probably make a recommendation for the pastorate as soon as a suitable minister is located.

A WARNING TO MANY

Some Interesting Facts About Kidney Troubles.

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the condition of the kidneys.

The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly the other organs cannot readily be brought back to health and strength.

When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's disease, which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, caused nearly ten thousand deaths in 1913, in the State of New York alone. Therefore, it behooves us to pay more attention to the health of these most important organs.

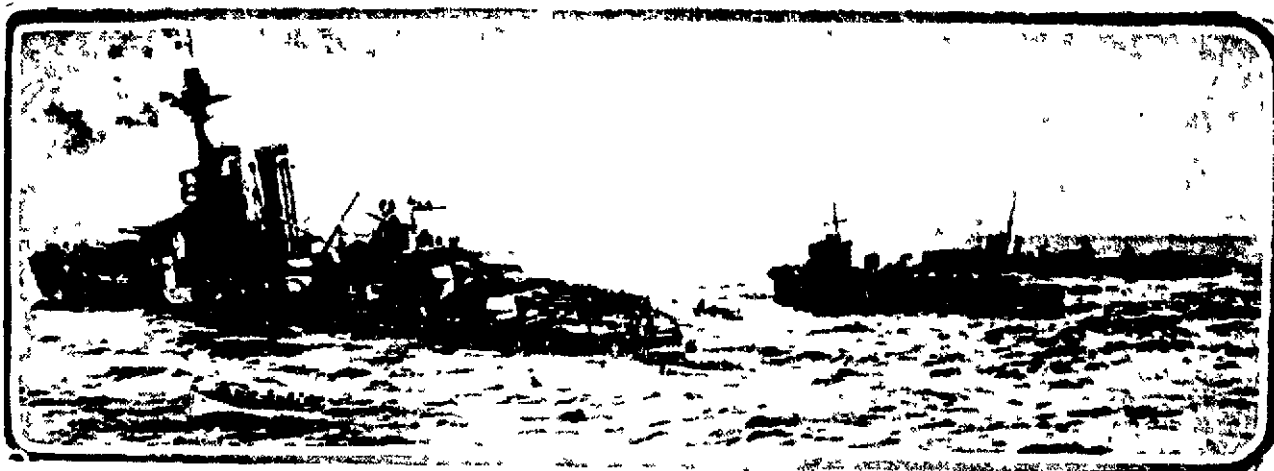

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the Great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

The mild and healing influence of this preparation in most cases, is soon realized according to sworn statements and verified testimony of those who have used the remedy.

If you feel that your kidneys require attention and wish a sample bottle, write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper, enclose ten cents and they will gladly forward it to you by Parcel Post.

Swamp-Root is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1.00.

Two torpedo boats are standing by the Audacious. This remarkable photograph and the news of the sinking of the Audacious reached New York almost simultaneously on Saturday, November 14. TRAFFIC IN BAD EGGS FOUGHT IN ILLINOIS

Washington, Nov. 19.—Federal state and local officials have begun a campaign in Illinois to stop what is declared was illegal traffic in bad eggs. Evidence gathered by the department stated, there seems to be a demand in Chicago for bad eggs and spots of $2 a case of thirty dozen. In consequence rats and spots from all over the country have been coming into Chicago in large numbers.

Although there is a certain demand for inedible eggs for technical purposes, such as tanning, leather, most of the rats and spots that reach Chicago are first broken and frozen and then sold to bakers to use in cakes and other forms of food. In one instance, it was found that a firm which admitted that they had no use for them except in food.

Now with the state and federal authorities working together it is believed the traffic can be broken up very rapidly.

Another important result of the work in Chicago it is hoped will be to persuade other cities and states of the necessity of assisting the federal government in destroying the traffic in bad eggs.

COST OF COLLECTING.

If the people of Alabama are taxed on a certain thing, and it takes three-fourths of the income from that tax to run the office, isn't it time that such a law be abolished, and some other method of taxation established, that doesn't cost so much to collect?

The State collected right around sixteen thousand dollars this year on motor vehicle license, but it took over eleven thousand dollars expense to make the collection. It would seem that it was time the State employed a professional collector, if that is a fair sample of the cost to enforce certain laws.

No motor vehicle owner would object to paying such a tax if it came back to the county and was applied on the roads. But it does not come back to the individual counties, but goes into the general fund. The four thousand dollars, which is left after the officers have been paid, and their traveling expenses paid, goes back to the tax payers, but in such a manner that they never experience any real benefit from it.

Georgia has a flat automobile license of $5 on every kind of an automobile, which isn't so unreasonable as our law. If Georgia has as much trouble in collecting the license as Alabama, then it would have to go into the general fund for money to pay off the officials.

RETRENCHMENT FOR OTHERS.

Fort Payne Journal.

From the general government down through the states and counties and even the little one horse towns comes the cry for more money—more taxes to be wrung from and more burdens laid on the people. Nowhere is there any mention of reduction of expenses; the cry is for increased expenditures and more money to meet them. Every little demagogue and grafter is an original champion of reform until he gets into office and then his whole time is devoted to schemes for spending money and extorting it from tax payers.

HOBSON, PAIR THEORIST.

Coca River News.

For fifteen years Hobson has been talking his greater navy. He was a crank then. Roosevelt chimed in and called for more battleships. Hobson was still more crank. One man, then another kept "discovering" that we needed a greater navy until Hobson became a pretty fair theorist. Vice-President Marshall now says that we must build battleships enough to whip the combined fleets of the world, and coast defenses impervious to impression. If this refrain keeps growing the only way to handle Hobson is to ignore him, if possible.—Coca River News.

SOUTHERN NEGRO REDUCES TROTTER.

Montgomery Journal.

That respectable and self-respecting leaders of the negro race in the south, if not in the north, would repudiate the negro Trotter, who outraged the proprieties on the occasion of the visit to the white house of a delegation, of which Trotter was the spokesman, to protest against the segregation of the races at Washington, was not questioned here in the south where there is unity and a perfect understanding between the races.

The first repudiation of Trotter and rebuke of him for his insolence to the president comes from Oscar W. Adams, an able and sensible leader of his race in the south, in an editorial in his paper, the Reporter, published at Birmingham.

Adams does not only criticize his conduct at the white house, but he gives an insight into the character of Trotter, who seems to be nothing but an agitator, who has hitherto been in the public in an unenviable position.

As some of our northern contemporaries do not understand the peaceable relations between the two races at the south, and the reasons therefor, the Journal reprints the article from the Birmingham Reporter on the subject, as one tending to enlighten them, and to show the difference between a Boston negro agitator, and a negro in the south who possesses a sense of good breeding derived from a study of refined manners among cultivated people. The Reporter says:

"In common with all good people who have an ounce of sense, we were astounded and shocked to read in the afternoon papers Thursday that William Monroe Trotter has offended the President of the United States, when at the head of a delegation representing the National Independent Political League, he sought to have an interview with the Chief Executive on the matter of segregation of the races in the Federal departments at Washington."

"The office of the President of the United States commands respect, and an audience with that dignity, no matter upon what mission, is a prize gladly to be taken advantage of by the best and most prominent men in the land. William Monroe Trotter should be relegated to the rear by all decent people of the negro race, and so far as we are concerned (and we take pride in believing that we represent a goodly portion of the negroes of America), he has never been regarded as a leader of negro thought and opinion."

"The very cause which Trotter, blind zealot that he is, crazy, and fanatic leader of a yet-to-be-proven effectual propaganda, essayed to help, has been hindered and retarded, and the negro race held up to the ridicule of the public by his fulminations. Mr. Wilson's remarks were sane and calm, considering the provocation, and we are glad that he did not feel it quite necessary to order Trotter from his presence as a more strenuous and vigorous executive might have done."

"We recall with a degree of disgust that under circumstances when Trotter and his gang were in the position of hosts they played the role of bullies and Bovey toughs, nearly breaking up a meeting at which Dr. Booker T. Washington was the chief speaker, the leading Mr. Trotter spent thirty days' time in jail for his offenses. We are tempted to give expression to the wish that Trotter and his Northern zealots would let negro affairs alone if they can not more than bungle them."

"There is not another negro in the whole race who would have committed such a performance."

No paper anywhere has so severely arraigned Trotter for his offending against the canons of ordinary decency and decorum as the Reporter, and in what it says it represents the better element of the negro race in the south.

One of the Journal's contemporaries remarks, "Many a cornfield negro in the south could give Trotter a valuable lesson in courtesy."

The Dothan Eagle, whose editor is a member of the State Senate, leads us to believe that our hopes that the liquor laws will not take up any time, are in vain. In view of this intimation from The Eagle we do not believe that the profits will give up any such advantage of allowing the presiding officers of either house to be elected by the local optionists.—Montgomery Times.

There are various forms of drunkenness. For instance we have a man in Dothan dead drunk from having been given too much authority.

CLOGGED NOSTRILS OPEN AT ONCE, HEAD COLDS AND CATARRH VANISH

In One Minute Your Stuffy Nose and Head Clear, Sneezing and Nose Running Cease, Dull Headache Goes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and soothes the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat, clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dripping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear, adv-is always granting the negro full rights and practically he always is denying them. And he is much happier when the question is not raised at all, when whites and blacks adjust themselves to each other by tolerance and reserve, by consideration of undoubted prejudices, by the simple process of slipping along somehow.

"In a fashion the question is more aggravated in the North than in the South. In the South the rule of white dominance is established and maintained without question. The North accepts the South's judgment as to its own necessities. In the North there is at least a theoretical concession that the negro is fully established in all political and social rights. In the latter respect this is fiction, although our laws maintain it true and the courts are supposed to enforce the law."

There is no doubt that the old Northern theory is a fiction in latter-day prejudice, and that much of the friction has arisen from the political experiences of the Republican party, which has endeavored to create at Washington a superficial adjustment which the balance of the North has not followed in any serious way. In all large cities as well as the average towns, the negroes are forced to huddle in colonies; their ownership of real estate is not permitted in any high-class residence section. The best negroes are limited in their opportunities for employment and advancement. There are towns in Illinois in which no negro is permitted to live, or to stay over night. Race prejudice is far stronger all over the North than it is in the South. Theoretically, the Northern people regard the negro race as legal and social equals, but practically they despise the individual negro and thrust him aside in an industrial and social way. In the South we know the limitations of the negro race and keep a tight line drawn on it as a race, socially, while the individual negro is tolerated or liked, and is given far greater industrial freedom and personal opportunity.

The fact is that the North is steadily advancing to the South's view and the South's handling of the negro problem. Wherever in the North or West, there is a colony of even a few hundred negroes, the Southern theory has faded away into a practical attitude more impatient, narrow and severe than the Southern.

President Wilson is a far better friend of the negro than many Boston idealists, and if he adopts practical common-sense methods of helping the negro hold the jobs the republicans have given the race, he is demonstrating his sympathy by his wisdom.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE AND THE TROTTER INCIDENT

(From the Birmingham News.)

The Trotter incident has attracted no little discussion among the newspapers on the negro question, as was anticipated. It is a matter of congratulation to find that the more important dailies East and West have not lost their heads over it. Even the New York Evening Post, which is perhaps the most theoretical and ideal of the negro-phobic papers, has been able to keep its head and not go off at a tangent.

One of the greatest papers in all the land is The Chicago Tribune. During the '50's and on for many years following the War between the States, it was a radical Republican paper under the control of the famous Joseph Medill, who shared with Horace Greely and The New York Tribune the credit for the creation and the leadership of the Republican party in that extreme period. Latterly The Chicago Tribune has become less partisan and now independent. It is still, however, in the control and under the direction of the family of its famous founder, with all their kindness toward the negro race.

It is interesting, therefore, to find The Chicago Tribune so broad and judicial in its treatment of the Washington incident. It is quite moderate on that line, saying:

"President Wilson would have saved himself the annoyance of a loss of equanimity if he had refused to hear the delegation which wished to protest against the segregation of negro employees of the government in Washington. He easily could have replied to the request for an audience that the matter was one of department and bureau administration in which he did not intend to interfere. Then the department heads would have had to do the stuttering and it would have been less important."

By giving opinions officially, even if not publicly, Mr. Wilson put the head of the government in the position of denying the principles of the government and his situation was awkward and not pleasant."

Of course, that virtual advice, that the President should have temporized and evaded arises from a conception that he should have played politics, which is the very thing the President refused to do. He met a situation boldly, and answered his critic boldly. He made it clear that he respected the negro race, admired it for the advances many of its members have made, and sympathized with their welfare. Because of that sympathy he recognized an intolerable situation in Washington and permitted it to be remedied, in the best interest of the negro himself, even though in a way some short-sighted, vain-glorious negroes could not see or appreciate.

However, The Tribune branches off from its criticism of the President for meeting an issue squarely, and goes to the heart of the whole matter in a very frank and calm way. It says:

"The negro question in the north of the United States generally is answered by a compromise between prejudice and an idealistic conception of pure right. In the South it is answered in any practical fashion that may be adopted by the whites. In both sections the situation is happiest when it is unweaved."

"Abstractly considered it is an impossible situation, but it has a knack of finding adjustments. Whites and blacks manage to get along together in spite of every reason why they should not get along. Sometimes it almost seems that deferring a definite plan to adjustment is only deferring and magnifying the ultimate evil, but experience reveals that the question, unadjusted, has a way of working itself out."

"President Wilson came very near establishing a national program of treatment to be given the negro when he defended segregation. If that step is to be taken it certainly is a serious one and Mr. Wilson would be in better position if he were representing national rather than sectional sentiments."

"It may be admitted that segregation satisfies the prejudices and meets the practical ideals of a great majority of whites, North and South. The difficulty is that it does not meet the approval of at least the northern conscience. The ideal of equality in citizenship persists as one of the cherished ideals of American citizens and when a citizen, at least a Northerner, finds that it has become inconvenient to defend or accept that ideal he becomes restless."

"Therefore theoretically he
